The authors wish above all to thank their editors at Cambridge University Press, especially Caroline Thiriau and Frances Disken whose expertise and unfailing guidance and encouragement have supported the project from beginning to end. We also thank Alyson Maskell for all her professional skills in steering the book through its final stages. Linda Matthews, too, deserves our thanks for organising the production schedules for the book.

We must also thank the Corpus team at Cambridge University Press for their help in providing lists of frequent collocation errors made by learners taking advanced exams. Special thanks also must go to Liz Walter for her invaluable feedback and suggestions while we were compiling the lists of collocations.

Also, as always, we thank our domestic partners for their patience and support during the writing of this book.

We have also received invaluable feedback from both students and teachers. Their comments have had a great influence on the final manuscript and we are very grateful to them. In particular, we would like to thank the following teachers from all over the world who have reviewed the material throughout its development:

Garan Holcombe, UK
Terry Nelson, Korea
Brendan O'Se, Ireland
Paul Pauwels, Belgium

Using this book

What is a collocation?

Collocation means a natural combination of words; it refers to the way English words are closely associated with each other. For example, pay and attention go together, as do commit and crime; blond goes with hair and heavy with rain.

Why learn collocations?

You need to learn collocations because they will help you to speak and write English in a more natural and accurate way. People will probably understand what you mean if you talk about making a crime or say there was very hard rain this morning, but your language will sound unnatural and might perhaps confuse. Did you mean that there was a lot of rain or perhaps that there was a hailstorm?

Learning collocations will also help you to increase your range of English vocabulary. For example, you'll find it easier to avoid words like very or nice or beautiful or get by choosing a word that fits the context better and has a more precise meaning. This is particularly useful if you are taking a written exam in English and want to make a good impression on the examiners. In advanced level exams, marks are often specifically awarded for the appropriate handling of collocation.

At an advanced level an appreciation of collocation can also be helpful in terms of appreciating other writers' use of language. Skilled users of the language may choose to create effects by varying the normal patterns of collocation, with the aim of either startling or amusing their audience. This technique is particularly popular with poets, journalists and advertisers. From an appreciation of the way in which creative writers play with language, you may then even want to move on to use words in more original ways yourself. You are more likely to be able to do this effectively if you have assimilated the standard patterns of language use presented in this book.

How were the collocations in this book selected?

The collocations presented in this book were all selected from those identified as significant by the CANCODE corpus of spoken English, developed at the University of Nottingham in association with Cambridge University Press, and the Cambridge International Corpus of written and spoken English. We also made extensive use of the Cambridge Learner Corpus, a corpus of student language which showed us what kind of collocation errors learners tend to make.

These corpora show that there are many thousands of collocations in English. So how could we select which ones would be most useful for you to work on in this book?

Firstly, of course, we wanted to choose ones that you might want to use in your own written and spoken English. So, in the unit Health and medicine we include, for example, shake off a cold and respond well to treatment but not grumbling appendix, which is a strong collocation, but one which – we hope – most of you will not feel the need for.

Secondly, we decided it would be most useful for you if we focused on those collocations which are not immediately obvious. A pretty girl, a modern car or to buy a ticket are all collocations, but they are combinations which you can easily understand and produce yourself without any problems. So we deal here with less obvious word combinations, for instance, flatly contradict (not ~~strongly~~ contradict) and bitter enemies (not ~~serious~~ enemies).

Some of you may have already used our English Collocations in Use Intermediate. In general, we have tried to avoid focusing on collocations that we dealt with in that book. The one exception is with collocations that the Cambridge Learner Corpus highlighted as causing frequent problems for students, even in advanced level exams. We felt that it would be useful to draw attention to such collocations again, even if we had dealt with them previously.

Idioms can be seen as one type of collocation. We deal with them separately in English Idioms in Use, and so do not focus on them here.

How is the book organised?

The book has 60 two-page units. The left-hand page presents the collocations that are focused on in the unit. You will usually find examples of collocations in typical contexts with, where appropriate, any special notes about their meaning and their usage. The right-hand page checks that you have understood the information on the left-hand page by giving you a series of exercises that practise the material just presented.

The units are organised into different sections. First we start with important information relating to learning about collocations in general. Then there is a section focusing on different types of collocation. The rest of the book deals with collocations that relate to particular topics such as Student life and Film and book reviews, concepts such as Sound or Difficulty and functions such as Cause and effect or Comparing and contrasting.

The book has a key to all the exercises and an index which lists all the collocations we deal with, and indicates the units where they can be found.

How should I use this book?

It is strongly recommended that you work through the six introductory units first, so that you become familiar with the nature of collocations and with how best to study them. After that, you may work on the units in any order that suits you.

What else do I need in order to work with this book?

You need a notebook or file in which you can write down the collocations that you study in this book, as well as any others that you come across elsewhere.

You also need to have access to a good dictionary. At this level we strongly recommend the Cambridge Advanced Learner's Dictionary as this gives exactly the kind of information that you need to have about collocations. It does this both through the examples provided for each word entry and through special collocations boxes or mini-panels. Your teacher, however, may also be able to recommend other dictionaries that you will find useful. If you have access to the Internet, you will also find this a useful source of information about language use and we occasionally suggest possible activities using the web.

So, a study of collocation is highly recommended (Unit 8) if you want to impress people with your natural and accurate use of language and to gain more marks (Unit 1) in English exams. Above all, we sincerely hope (Unit 57) both that this book will help you acquire the knowledge (Unit 17) you need about English collocations and also that you will thoroughly enjoy (Unit 8) working through the units in English Collocations in Use Advanced.

Introducing collocations

What are collocations?

A collocation is a combination of two or more words which frequently occur together. If someone says, 'She's got yellow hair', they would probably be understood, but it is not what would ordinarily be said in English. We'd say, 'She's got blond hair'. In other words, yellow doesn't collocate with hair in everyday English. Yellow collocates with, say, flowers or paint.

Collocations are not just a matter of how adjectives combine with nouns. They can refer to any kind of typical word combination, for example verb + noun (e.g. arouse someone's interest, lead a seminar), adverb + adjective (e.g. fundamentally different), adverb + verb (e.g. flatly contradict), noun + noun (e.g. a lick of paint, a team of experts, words of wisdom). There is much more about different grammatical types of collocation in Unit 3.

Phrasal verbs (e.g. come up with, run up, adhere to) and compound nouns (e.g. economy drive, stock market) are sometimes described as types of collocations. However, in this book we consider them as individual lexical items and so include them here only in combination with something else, e.g. come up with a suggestion, run up a bill, adhere to your principles, go on an economy drive, play the stock market.

It can be difficult for learners of English to know which words collocate, as natural collocations are not always logical or guessable. There is, for example, no obvious reason why we say making friends rather than getting friends or heavy rain, not strong rain.

Learners also need to know when specific collocations are appropriate. This is usually referred to by linguists as knowing which register to use. Alight from a bus is a formal collocation used in notices and other official contexts. In everyday situations we would, of course, always talk about getting off a bus. There is more about register and collocation in Unit 6.

B

Why is it important to learn collocations?

An appreciation of collocation will help you to:

- use the words you know more accurately
In other words, you'll make (NOT ~~do~~) fewer mistakes.
- sound more natural when you speak and write
By saying, for example, of great importance, rather than of big or high importance, you won't just be understood, you will – quite rightly – sound like a fluent user of English.
- vary your speech and, probably more importantly, your writing
Instead of repeating everyday words like very, good or nice, you will be able to exploit a wider range of language. You would gain more marks in an exam, for instance, for writing We had a blissfully happy holiday in a picturesque little village surrounded by spectacular mountains than for We had a very happy holiday in a nice little village surrounded by beautiful mountains, even though both sentences are perfectly correct.
- understand when a skilful writer departs from normal patterns of collocation
A journalist, poet, advertiser or other inventive user of language often creates an effect by not choosing the expected collocation. For example, a travel article about the Italian capital might be entitled No place like Rome, a reference to the popular expression There's no place like home.

Exercises

1.1 Match the two parts of these collocations.

- | | |
|-----------------|--------------------|
| 1 adhere to | rain |
| 2 arouse | different |
| 3 blond | of wisdom |
| 4 come up with | your principles |
| 5 flatly | an economy drive |
| 6 fundamentally | a seminar |
| 7 go on | someone's interest |
| 8 heavy | contradict |
| 9 lead | hair |
| 10 a lick | the stock market |
| 11 play | of paint |
| 12 words | a suggestion |

1.2 Correct the underlined collocation errors with words from B. Be careful, you will find the words in the text, not in the examples.

- 1 Exam candidates often make faults in their use of verbs like do, make, go and get.
- 2 Try to use a longer range of language when you write.
- 3 Exam candidates who use collocations well gather better marks.
- 4 You have to know what normal collocation patterns are before you can lose them.
- 5 The writer used colloquial language to form an effect.

1.3 Look at these sentences from a hotel brochure. Improve the style by replacing the words in italics with the word in brackets that forms the best collocation. (Use each word only once.)

- 1 Our new family hotel is set in a nice location and all the rooms have nice furnishings and nice views over the surrounding countryside. (stylish / secluded / breathtaking)
- 2 Visitors will enjoy the good atmosphere in either of our good dining rooms, both serving good food to both residents and non-residents. (delicious / relaxing / spacious)
- 3 We organise tours to beautiful surrounding villages where you'll have the opportunity to take some beautiful photographs and sample the beautiful local cuisine. (mouth-watering / picturesque / stunning)

1.4 Write F (formal), I (informal) or N (neutral) in the brackets at the end of each sentence. In each pair of sentences, there is one neutral sentence and one formal or informal sentence. Underline the collocations that are noticeably formal or informal.

- 1 a Passengers must not alight from the bus while it is in motion. ()
b Passengers must not get off the bus while it is moving. ()
- 2 a Let's grab a bite before we get down to work. ()
b Let's have something to eat before we start work. ()
- 3 a SFTS has the right to bring the agreement to an end with three months' notice. ()
b SFTS reserves the right to terminate the agreement with three months' notice. ()
- 4 a She thinks her boyfriend is planning to pop the question tonight. ()
b She thinks her boyfriend is planning to ask her to marry him tonight. ()

1.5 Correct the four collocation errors in this paragraph.

The yellow-haired boy said he had joined the English class to get some new friends. He also said that he wanted to learn about collocations because it would be of big importance in helping him to do fewer mistakes when writing in English.

Strong, fixed and weak collocations

A Strong collocations

A strong collocation is one in which the words are very closely associated with each other. For example, the adjective mitigating almost always collocates with circumstances or factors; it rarely collocates with any other word. Although she was found guilty, the jury felt there were mitigating circumstances. [factors or circumstances that lessen the blame] Here are some other examples of strong collocations.

collocation	comment
Inclement weather was expected.	(very formal) = unpleasant weather Inclement collocates almost exclusively with weather .
She has auburn hair.	Auburn only collocates with words connected with hair (e.g. curls , tresses , locks).
I felt deliriously happy.	= extremely happy Strongly associated with happy . Not used with glad , content , sad , etc.
The chairperson adjourned the meeting.	= have a pause or rest during a meeting/trial Adjourn is very strongly associated with meeting and trial .

B Fixed collocations

Fixed collocations are collocations so strong that they cannot be changed in any way. For example, you can say I was walking to and fro (meaning I was walking in one direction and then in the opposite direction, a repeated number of times). No other words can replace to or fro or and in this collocation. It is completely fixed. The meaning of some fixed collocations cannot be guessed from the individual words. These collocations are called idioms and are focused on in the book English Idioms in Use.

C Weak collocations

Weak collocations are made up of words that collocate with a wide range of other words. For example, you can say you are in broad agreement with someone [generally in agreement with them]. However, broad can also be used with a number of other words – a broad avenue, a broad smile, broad shoulders, a broad accent [a strong accent], a broad hint [a strong hint] and so on. These are weak collocations, in the sense that broad collocates with a broad range of different nouns.

Strong collocations and weak collocations form a continuum, with stronger ones at one end and weaker ones at the other. Most collocations lie somewhere between the two. For example, the (formal) adjective picturesque collocates with village, location and town, and so appears near the middle of the continuum.

D Types of collocations in this book

The collocations in this book are all frequently used in modern English. We used a corpus (a database of language) to check this. We have also selected the collocations which will be useful to you as an advanced learner. We pay most attention to those that are not predictable. A broad avenue, for example, would be predicted by any student who knows broad and avenue. However, the use of broad to mean strong as in a broad accent is more difficult to predict.

Exercises

- 2.1 Complete the collocations using the words in the box. You will need to use some words more than once.

adjourn auburn broad deliriously inclement mitigating picturesque

- 1 a accent
- 2 in agreement
- 3 circumstances
- 4 factors
- 5 hair
- 6 happy
- 7 a smile
- 8 a location
- 9 a meeting
- 10 a town
- 11 a trial
- 12 weather

- 2.2 Rewrite each sentence using a collocation from 2.1.

- 1 Melissa has quite a strong Scottish accent.
- 2 Bad weather led to the cancellation of the President's garden party.
- 3 We were all very happy when we heard we'd won the award.
- 4 Their new home was in a very pretty location.
- 5 Because there were circumstances that made the theft less serious, the judge let him off with a warning.
- 6 I think we should stop the meeting now and continue it tomorrow.
- 7 She had a big smile on her face when she arrived.
- 8 She has lovely reddish-brown hair.
- 9 I think we're generally in agreement as to what should be done.

- 2.3 Think of as many collocations as you can for each word. Then look in a dictionary for other suitable words. Write W (weak) or S (strong) next to each group depending on how many words you found.

- 1 extremely
- 2 an effort
- 3 cancel
- 4 deliver
- 5 a living

- 2.4 How useful do you think the collocations you have worked on in 2.2 and 2.3 are for you personally? Choose which collocations are most important to you personally and make sentences with them.

FOLLOW UP

Choose an English-language text that you have worked on recently. Underline five collocations in it. Are these collocations weak, strong or fixed?

Grammatical categories of collocation

A Verb + noun

verb	noun	example	meaning of verb
draw up	a list a contract	Our lawyer drew up a contract for us to sign.	prepare something, usually official, in writing pass up	a chance an opportunity	I didn't want to pass up the chance of seeing Hong Kong, so I agreed to go on the trip.	fail to take advantage of

G More complex collocations

Mary was looking forward to retiring and taking it easy for a while.
It's time you put the past behind you and started focusing on the future.

Exercises

- 3.1 Match a word from each box to form collocations. Not all the collocations appear on the opposite page, so use a dictionary to help you if necessary.

A disease evidence opportunity smoke standards teeth wind withstand

B arises chatter howls pressure rises slip spreads suggests

- | | |
|---------|---------|
| 1 | 5 |
| 2 | 6 |
| 3 | 7 |
| 4 | 8 |

- 3.2 Complete each sentence using a collocation from 3.1 in the appropriate form.

- The scientific human beings first emerged in Africa.
- The was all night and it was raining, so I couldn't sleep.
- The machine has to be made of materials that can a lot of

- The right / straight / plain truth is that I hate my job.
- I tried to persuade her but I'm afraid I failed desperately / miserably / wholeheartedly.

Using your dictionary and other resources

A Using dictionaries

Good modern learners' dictionaries include example sentences which make a point of illustrating each word's most frequent collocations. Enormous databases of language, known as corpora, are used to analyse speech and text to identify which words collocate most frequently. Look up the word abject in the Cambridge Advanced Learner's Dictionary and you will find the entry above. Notice how frequent collocations are used in the example sentences.

Remember that dictionaries today are not only available on paper; you can also access them on CD-ROM and online. These can be particularly helpful when you are exploring collocations, as they make it quick and easy to search for items in different ways and to jump from one entry to another. Online dictionaries give you easy access to an enormous amount of information relating to meaning, collocation and register, for which there is not enough space in a book. In whatever form, a dictionary is an invaluable tool for developing your knowledge of collocation.

abject /'æb.dʒekt/ adjective FORMAL EXTREME 1 abject misery/poverty/terror, etc. when someone is extremely unhappy, poor, frightened, etc: They live in abject poverty. ○ This policy has turned out to be an abject failure. NOT PROUD 2 showing no PRIDE or respect for yourself: an abject apology ○ He is almost abject in his respect for his boss. • abjectly /'æb.dʒekt.li/ adverb

B Using other resources

The Internet enables you to explore collocations in other ways too. A search engine can be very helpful. Although it is almost impossible to come up with a word combination that a search engine will be unable to find examples of, the number of results can give you a good idea of whether a combination is a true collocation or not. For example, compare the results below for "abject failure" and "abject success". (You need to use inverted commas so that the search covers only instances where the words occur consecutively.)

Results 1–10 of about 104 for "abject success". (0.14 seconds)

Results 1–10 of about 283,000 for "abject failure". (0.04 seconds)

To be sure that a word combination is a normal collocation you would expect a search engine to find thousands of instances of it.

It is often useful to consult a corpus to find out how words are commonly used. Here is an example of how a corpus presents information:

...he came from a domestic situation of abject poverty, it was a radical change. Despite their efforts, the project was an abject failure, and all involved were. ...many years the population had suffered abject terror as a result of the policies. ...vast majority of this tiny country live in abject poverty, despite the immense. ...living conditions can be described as abject misery, such was the state of

The site www.webcorp.org.uk lets you use the web as a corpus. It will search the web for words of your choice and display samples of text containing those words. You can make various choices about how you wish the web to be searched and how you would like the information to be presented to you.

The problem with using the web as a corpus is, of course, that the Internet includes a certain amount of language that is not accurate or standard. You may prefer to do a search of the British National Corpus at www.natcorp.ox.ac.uk which is a real corpus, so should produce a more accurate result. Both these sites should prove useful resources if you want to do your own in-depth investigation of specific collocations.

Exercises

4.1

Use your dictionary (book, CD-ROM or online version) to find three collocations for each of these words.

- 1 cast (as verb with basic meaning of throw)
- 2 application
- 3 utter (as adjective)
- 4 absolutely
- 5 release (as verb)

4.2

Rewrite the underlined part of each sentence using the word in brackets. Use a dictionary to help you.

- 1 His opponent made critical and damaging remarks about his honesty. (ASPERSIONS)
- 2 The point you're making is quite unrelated to our topic. (RELEVANCE)
- 3 The speaker praised Janice's contribution to the project. (TRIBUTE)
- 4 As soon as she got home Kay started working. (SET)
- 5 His rudeness made us all fall silent. (RENDERED)
- 6 It is uncertain how many workers will be affected by the changes. (INDETERMINATE)
- 7 The marketing campaign was better than we had expected. (EXCEEDED)
- 8 I'm slightly unsure about these sales figures. (NIGGLING)

4.3

Type these phrases into a search engine. Don't forget to use inverted commas. How many results do you get for each? What does this suggest about whether these phrases are collocations or not?

cast a concert cast a groan cast a play cast a smile

Go to www.natcorp.ox.ac.uk. Type in the words below. Note the number of times the words appear in the same collocations as in the sentences in 4.2. Do they often collocate with any other words?

aspersions indeterminate niggling tribute

4.5

a) Answer these questions.

- 1 What field do you work in, or plan to work in?
- 2 What do you enjoy doing at the weekend?
- 3 What is, or was, your favourite subject at school or college?
- 4 How did you spend your last holiday?
- 5 What did you have to eat yesterday?
- 6 What was the last book you read?

b) Now use a dictionary to find three collocations that relate to each of your answers to 1–6.

Find the collocations by looking up key words relating to your answer. For example, if your answer to question 1 was medicine, you could look up key words such as medication, ill and surgical to find such collocations as to prescribe medication, terminally ill, a surgical procedure.

c) Now write example sentences using the collocations you have found.

TIP

Be careful when using corpora to check or find new collocations. Corpora include many types of text, some of which are technical. Check the sources of the texts where the collocations appear to see if the collocations are used in a variety of situations.

Finding and working on collocations in texts

A Finding collocations

You can expand your collocation vocabulary by training yourself to notice collocations whenever you read. Note the collocations in these three examples of texts from different sources – a newspaper feature, a film review and a website for London tourists.

As a newly qualified teacher at a comprehensive school in Wiltshire, every day Joe faces the challenge of gaining the respect of a class of 15-year-olds. Joe, 26, admits it is a tough challenge but thinks he is winning the battle. Joe, who teaches English and media studies and coaches a school football team, will qualify fully in July, pending the results¹ of his lesson assessments. With this milestone passed², and the increased financial stability it will bring, Joe will turn his thoughts to buying his first home.

¹ (formal) as long as he achieves successful results

² major life event behind him

★★★ The Interpreter

She has a gift for languages, which brings her to the UN. She wants to make a difference. She is idealistic in that single-minded, dedicated manner associated with freedom fighters. Silvia (Nicole Kidman) remains an enigma. When Tobin Keller (Sean Penn) begins to investigate her, he is faced with a blank sheet. She is beautiful, blonde, lissom and lithe. She lives alone, has no lover, rides a Vespa throughout New York and works all day, providing simultaneous translation for delegates. She has an odd accent, which, like everything else about her, is difficult to pin down³.

³ hard to fix or place

Entertaining children in London

Covent Garden's buskers and jugglers provide no-cost entertainment in a car-free setting, and you've always got the chance of being plucked from the crowd to help out with a trick. Don't underestimate the value of London's public transport as a source of fun, either. The #11 double-decker from Victoria, for instance, will trundle you past the Houses of Parliament, Trafalgar Square and the Strand on its way to St Paul's Cathedral for a modest sum. The driverless Docklands Light Railway is another guaranteed source of amusement – grab a seat⁴ at the front of the train and pretend to be the driver, then take a boat back to the centre of town from Greenwich.

⁴ (informal) take a seat

Remember you will also hear collocations in conversations, lectures, songs and films. Try to get into the habit of recording any interesting collocations that you notice.

B Recording collocations

When working on collocations in a text, use your dictionary to find more relating to one or both parts of the original collocation. You can record strong collocations effectively in collocation forks:

and weak ones in collocation bubbles (because there are so many more of them):

Exercises

5.1 Complete each sentence using a collocation from A.

- 1 Tania has always had a so I'm not surprised she wants to study Chinese at university.
- 2 At high tide the sea covers the causeway and the only way to get to the island is to
- 3 It's very crowded in this café. You and I'll get our drinks.
- 4 Once my exams are over I'll planning a holiday.
- 5 Far more people these days manage to against cancer.
- 6 Most politicians say they enter politics because they want to
- 7 Try not to having good friends. Ultimately, friendship is far more important than work.
- 8 He's got the job – a successful in his driving test tomorrow.
- 9 Although they lack experience, doctors are often very enthusiastic and passionate about their work.

5.2 Complete the collocations. The first letters are given to help you. Use a dictionary if necessary.

to j _ _ _ a _ t _ _
to p _ _ _ u _ t _ _
to g _ _ t _ _
to s _ _ _ a _ _ to b _ i _ w _ _ a _ chance

to f _ _ _ a _ _ to p _ _ _ a _ _ a d _ _ _ _ _
to r _ _ _ to the _ _ a s _ _ _ _ _

challenge

5.3 Check these expressions (a) in a good dictionary and (b) using a search engine. Which two are collocations and which two are not?

- 1 learn by head 2 learn by heart 3 lose a chance 4 miss a chance

5.4 Answer these questions.

- 1 Name three milestones in your life that you have already passed.
- 2 Are you already fully qualified? If so, as what? If not, when will you be?
- 3 What are some typical sources of income?
- 4 What is the toughest challenge you have ever faced?
- 5 What qualities would be needed by someone providing simultaneous translation?
- 6 What are some examples of things that have sentimental value for you?

5.5 Here is one student's plan for work on collocations. Complete the gaps, using a dictionary if necessary. Then tick the ideas you can use yourself.

- (1) an effort to notice collocations in any English text I read.
- (2) hold of a good dictionary to check other collocations for words that I want to learn.
- Write down at least three collocations for each new word I want to (3) to memory.
- Look back over old homework to see where I have (4) mistakes with collocations and (5) my best to (6) those mistakes in future.
- (7) a point of using good collocations when I have to write or speak in English.
- Read and listen to as much English as (8) because that will expose me to natural collocations.
- Every week revise the collocations I have (9) a note of in my vocabulary file.

Register

What is register?

Our use of language changes according to the situation that we are in. If your close friend hosts a party, you could say, 'Thanks for the party. It was a blast.' (very informal) However, if your boss was the host, you would probably say, 'Thanks for the party. I really enjoyed it.' (neutral) In this example, neutral and very informal are both examples of register.

The register of most language is neutral (it can be used in any situation). However, register can also be formal, informal, characteristic of a certain professional field (e.g. legal, journalistic or media) or specific to official notices and forms.

Our choice of register depends on what we are talking about (business, the news, the neighbours), who we are talking to (friends, strangers, figures of authority) and how we are talking to them (in a letter, in an email, in public, in private). Study the table below and notice how different words and phrases are used to describe the same situation.

example	register	comment
The police are investigating / looking into the arms deal.	neutral	Either version would not seem out of place in any spoken or written contexts.
The cops are trying to dig out info about the arms deal.	informal	Phrasal verbs are often an informal alternative – although some are neutral.
The police are conducting an investigation into the arms deal.	formal	Longer words of Latin or Greek origin often indicate more formal language.
Police to probe arms deal	neutral, journalistic	Probe is typical of newspaper headline style.
The arms deal may be subject to police investigation .	formal, legal and official	Subject to investigation is typical of a bureaucratic or legal style.

Be careful not to think of formal language as written and informal language as spoken. There is a lot of overlap. For example, markedly formal language is most typical of official or academic writing and official legal or bureaucratic speech. Informal language is typical of conversation, personal letters and emails, and some journalism.

Formal versus neutral collocations

formal (from official documents)	neutral (spoken)
Students must submit their assignments by 1 May.	'You have to hand in your assignments by 1 May.'
Students may request an extension after consulting their tutor .	'You can ask for an extension after you've talked to / had a word with your tutor.'

Informal versus neutral collocations

That film was totally awesome! (mainly used by teenagers, predominantly US) [neutral equivalent: absolutely amazing/fantastic]

That party was well good! (Well used to mean 'very'/'really', mainly by younger speakers.)

I haven't a clue / the foggiest idea what you mean. [neutral equivalent: I have no idea]

We can grab a snack before the meeting if you're hungry. [neutral equivalent: have a snack]

Make a note in your notebook if a collocation is very formal or informal in register.

Exercises

- 6.1 Write F (formal), I (informal) or N (neutral) in the brackets at the end of each sentence. Underline the collocations which indicate the register. Then rewrite the formal and informal sentences to make them neutral.

Example: Do not alight from the bus until it stops. (F) Do not get off the bus until it stops.

- 1 I feel dead tired all the time. ()
- 2 We were all bored stupid by the poetry reading. ()
- 3 Currency exchange offices are located in the arrivals lounge. ()
- 4 She conducted a study of single-parent family units. ()
- 5 She did her degree in London and found work there in 2001. ()
- 6 I just got the latest software so my computer is bang up-to-date. ()
- 7 Affix a passport-size photograph to the application form. ()
- 8 Jake asked his tutor for an extension to complete his dissertation. ()

- 6.2 Match the beginning of each sentence with its ending. Then label each sentence with the appropriate register from the list below. Underline the collocations which indicate the register.

Registers: informal conversation (IC) journalism/news (J) entertainment (E) technical (T) legal (L) notices (N)

- 6.3 Complete this conversation between a doctor and a patient, using the verbs in the box in the appropriate form. The language is quite informal, without technical medical terms.

come clear do feel get run take write

Doctor: What can I (1)..... for you, Mr Wilson?

Patient: Well, Doctor, I've been (2)..... a temperature for the last couple of days and I've (3)..... out in a rash on my neck. Do you see? These red spots here.

Doctor: Hmm. Let's (4)..... a look.

Patient: It's very irritating and I have trouble (5)..... off to sleep at night. Then I (6)..... down all day and can't concentrate on my work.

Doctor: Right. I don't think it's anything serious. I'll (7)..... you out a prescription for some lotion which should help to (8)..... up the rash.

- 6.4 Look at how the doctor describes the case in his records using more technical language. Choose the correct word from the choice provided. Use a dictionary to help if necessary.

A patient (1) presented / represented this morning with an (2) elevating / elevated temperature. He was also (3) exposing / exhibiting a neck rash. He further (4) complained / grumbled of an (5) inability / impossibility to concentrate.

Metaphor

When we speak metaphorically, we use words in a non-literal sense. For example, when we say a writer casts light on a situation, we mean that the writer helps us understand it more clearly, in the same way that putting a light on in a dark room helps us see more clearly.

A Metaphors based on the body

collocation	example	meaning
face (up to) the facts	You're never going to run in the Olympics. It's time you faced (up to) the facts .	accepted reality shoulder the blame	Although others were also responsible for the problem, Sue decided to shoulder the blame .	take responsibility for something bad foot the bill	Choose what you like from the menu – the company is footing the bill .	paying head a team	Jo heads a team working on crime prevention.	leads a project group
keep someone on their toes	Having three sons under the age of five keeps Jana on her toes .	makes her stay active and concentrated have an eye for	Gina has an eye for detail, so ask her to check the report.	is good at noticing go hand in hand with	Unemployment goes hand in hand with social unrest.	happens at the same time or as a result of

B Metaphors based on weight

Heavy can be used to mean serious or difficult, as in heavy responsibility. A heavy burden can be either something heavy to carry or a difficult responsibility to deal with, while a heavy book can be either one that weighs a lot or one with difficult content. A weighty tome, however, would only be used to mean a book with difficult content. Similarly in weighty matters or weighty problems, weighty means difficult and serious.

Light, the opposite of heavy, can also be used metaphorically to mean carefree or lacking in seriousness. So light reading is reading material that is not serious. If you do something with a light heart, you feel carefree and happy.

If someone has a slim chance of doing something, there is a chance, but it is small. Fat chance (very informal) means almost no chance.

C Metaphors based on movement

James did a lot of partying in his final year and ran into difficulties with his course. His father was hopping mad¹ when he only just managed to get his degree. However, when he left university he walked straight into a job² in an excellent company. Some people jumped to the conclusion that this was because he'd started going out with the Managing Director's daughter. His mother worried that, if their relationship hit the rocks³, he would run into trouble at work too.

² got a job very easily

³ ended (metaphor based on a boat being destroyed on rocks)

Exercises

7.1 Rewrite the underlined part of each sentence using a metaphor from A.

- 1 The presidential visit meant no one had time to relax.
- 2 Rosetta took full responsibility for the failure of the project.
- 3 I don't think Greg will ever win Rosie's heart; it's time he accepted that.
- 4 The company had done so well that year that it agreed to pay for a staff night out.
- 5 I'm glad I'm not in charge of this team.
- 6 Carola is very good at finding a bargain.

7.2 Answer these questions about the metaphors on the opposite page.

- 1 What usually goes hand in hand with inflation, an increase or a decrease in savings?
- 2 If a relationship hits the rocks, is it the end or the beginning of that relationship?
- 3 If you say that someone is hopping mad, do you mean that they are good at athletics or that they are very angry?
- 4 If you run into difficulties or trouble, does that mean that they happen quickly?
- 5 Would you be more likely to call a magazine publishing gossip about celebrities light reading or a weighty tome?
- 6 If you talk about facing the facts, are the facts more likely to be pleasant or unpleasant?

7.3 Explain the difference in meaning between the sentences in each pair.

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1a Jill walked into a well-paid job in the City. | 1b Jill got a well-paid job in the City. |
| 2a Pat is heading the project team. | 2b Pat is backing the project team. |
| 3a Dad jumped to the wrong conclusion. | 3b Dad came to the wrong conclusion. |
| 4a Rod left the room with a light heart. | 4b Rod left the room with a heavy heart. |
| 5a Fat chance I've got of winning! | 5b I've got a slim chance of winning. |

7.4 Choose the correct collocation.

- 1 Kieran's constant whistling is riding / getting / driving me crazy.
- 2 Sylvia is a first-class designer as she has a good eye / nose / hand for detail.
- 3 You mustn't shoulder the heavy weight / burden / task of redecorating the house all by yourself.
- 4 There is just a thin / slim / skinny chance that Marek might pop in today.
- 5 The committee has some fat / weighty / heavy matters to discuss on today's agenda.
- 6 When the results came out, Marco was thrilled to see his name footing / facing / heading the list of successful candidates.

7.5 Explain what the play on words is based on in each of these headlines.

1 ATHLETE RUNS INTO TROUBLE

4 SHOE WORLD CO. TO FOOT THE BILL

2 DIET PILLS HAVE FAT CHANCE OF SUCCESS

5 NEW LAW MAKES RABBIT OWNERS HOPPING MAD

3 NEW DIRECTOR KEEPS ROYAL BALLET ON ITS TOES

TIP

You may find it useful to draw little pictures in your vocabulary notebook – or imagine them in your mind – to help you remember some collocations.

8 Intensifying and softening adverbs

Adverbs are often used before adjectives and verbs either to strengthen their meaning (intensifying adverbs) or to weaken it (softening adverbs).

Her comments were deeply offensive. (intensifier – very/extremely)

Her comments were slightly offensive. (softener – a little bit)

A Intensifying adverbs

Notice how intensifying adverbs are used to mean ‘extremely’ or ‘completely’ in the sentences below. The expressions marked with * are very informal.

Jane really enjoys doing housework. You should see her flat – it’s always spotlessly clean.

It was downright rude of Antonio to tell Paula that she looked older than her own mother. I hope he feels thoroughly ashamed.

It’s blatantly obvious that Olga is only interested in Richard because he’s stinking rich*.

I wonder what she’ll do when she finds out he’s wildly exaggerated how rich he really is!

I don’t know what I was worrying about! The exam turned out to be dead easy*!

This celebrity website is good fun but most of the information is wildly inaccurate.

B Softening adverbs

Note the softening adverbs used in these sentences from newspapers.

The spokesperson said the new insurance scheme was only slightly different from the old one. [weak collocation; slightly can be used with a wide range of adjectives]

The Chief Executive said he was mildly surprised by the public interest in the firm’s plans. [mildly also collocates with amusing/ed, irritating/ed, offensive]

Alfredo Scaluzzi’s new film is loosely based on a nineteenth century novel. [loosely also collocates with centred, structured, related, connected]

Ms Giroa said she regarded reports that she was about to seek a divorce as faintly ridiculous. [fairly formal; faintly also collocates with amused, surprised, patronising, absurd]

C Alternatives to very

There are a variety of words that you can use as alternatives to very which collocate with most adjectives, for example: really, extremely, terribly, incredibly and awfully. Other adverbs collocate with certain adjectives and verbs but not with others.

alternatives to very	✓	NOT highly	unlikely, educated, recommended	appreciate, influence, interesting strongly	influence	appreciate
greatly	appreciate, influence
utterly	absurd, ridiculous	sorry, busy, glad, lonely completely/totally/entirely	different, dependent, separate thoroughly	enjoy

Absolutely only collocates with adjectives which have strong meanings, e.g. absolutely (NOT very) delighted, very (NOT absolutely) happy.

Exercises

8.1 Match a word from each box to form collocations.

blatantly downright spotlessly
stinking thoroughly wildly

ashamed clean inaccurate obvious rich rude

8.2 Complete each sentence using a collocation from 8.1.

- 1 He's just bought a 200,000 dollar yacht – he must be !

- 3 It was of him not to say hello to the secretary.
- 4 I've been hoovering and dusting all day, so now my flat is
- 5 Most of the facts were wrong in that news report. It was
- 6 You should be of yourself. Your behaviour was appalling!

8.3 Rewrite the underlined part of each sentence using a collocation from the opposite page.

- 1 The American writer Mark Twain is famous for commenting that reports of his death had been over-exaggerated.
- 2 This restaurant is recommended by many different people.
- 3 The exam was extremely easy; everyone got high marks. (make this informal)
- 4 The musical West Side Story is kind of based on the plot of Shakespeare's play Romeo and Juliet. (make this less informal)
- 5 The idea of the boss singing Happy Birthday to me struck me as a little bit ridiculous.
- 6 The success of the Wimbledon tennis tournament is 100% dependent on the weather. (give two answers)
- 7 I really enjoyed the days I spent at your lovely house in the country.
- 8 I was just a little surprised by her decision to quit her job so soon.
- 9 I was really delighted when they told me I'd got the job.
- 10 The new model of this camera is a little bit different from the old one.

8.4 Add intensifying adverbs from the opposite page to these sentences to make the words in bold stronger.

- 1 I appreciate the fact that you have given me so much of your time.
- 2 Sometimes Tony says ridiculous things.
- 3 The crossword in today's newspaper is difficult. I can't even start it!
- 4 It's sweet of you to offer to help.
- 5 I found his remarks offensive; he should apologise.
- 6 She leads a lonely life in a tiny house on a remote island.
- 7 We should try to keep the two groups separate from each other.
- 8 She is an educated person.
- 9 I've been busy all week.
- 10 That meal was expensive! I'm not eating there again.

8.5 Are the adverb collocations correct or not? If they are incorrect, correct them using collocations from C opposite.

- 1 I thoroughly enjoyed the film.
- 2 Your help would be strongly appreciated.
- 3 The song is highly influenced by Brazilian folk rhythms.
- 4 I find the situation utterly absurd.

TIP

Look out for more collocations with these words as you listen and read, and record them in collocation bubbles indicating what they do, and do not collocate with.

Make and verbs that mean make

A Common errors with make

The Cambridge Learner Corpus shows that some of the most frequent collocation errors made by candidates in advanced English exams relate to the use of make. Here are some typical errors and their corrections.

Discussing job applicants

- Guy: So which of these applicants do you think we should interview? They all seem to fit the job description quite well to me. It's quite a daunting task to narrow the list down to just one person.
- Julia: I agree. So, let's start by taking up references for these ten people.
- Guy: OK. So why did you pick these ten out of the fifty who applied?
- Julia: Well, these ten all seem to be people who realise the importance of working as a team. They've all shown that they are capable of mastering new skills. And they're all clearly comfortable with taking on responsibility.
- Guy: Did you automatically eliminate the two who'd previously taken industrial action¹?
- Julia: One of them – I'd also heard rumours about his involvement in a professional misconduct case. He was certainly relieved of his duties² at ARG under mysterious circumstances. But the other was standing up for a woman who'd been wrongfully dismissed³, even though he knew he might lose his own job. So he sounded good to me.
- Guy: Fair enough. He must have strength of character to risk losing his own livelihood.
- Julia: That's right. So could we pencil in a meeting for considering the references? And then I'd better leave you and go and clear my desk⁴ before I go home.
- Guy: Yes, sure. How about Friday at 10?

² (formal) dismissed

³ (formal, legal) unfairly dismissed

⁴ deal with all the papers on one's desk (also used when someone is clearing their desk because they are leaving their job)

- Jenny: But he's paid well?
- Ali: Not really. He just about gets a living wage². And all the overtime is unpaid.
- Jenny: He'll just have to throw a sickie³ from time to time.
- Ali: Yes, I suggested he did that too, but he says he's afraid of getting the sack⁴ if he does. He feels there might be some prospects for him there eventually, even if he is just being used as sweated labour⁵ at the moment.
- Jenny: Well, with any luck he'll eventually find that he can realise his potential⁶ there.
- Ali: I hope so. But they have a very high turnover of staff and it won't be easy for him to stay the course⁷.
- Jenny: No, but he's very determined, isn't he? So let's hope it all works out.

¹ (informal) got a new (and usually a good) job

Shopping in the high street or online?

Most companies carry out surveys¹ to find out what customers or potential customers feel about their products and services. I answered one recently about online shopping. I personally much prefer to go shopping on the high street rather than to shop on the Internet. You get a much better impression of whether something is good value for money or truly fit for purpose² when you can touch it. And I feel if you have a problem with a purchase, it's easier to go back and make a complaint if you've bought something from a shop. But shopping online has its advantages, and many companies offer you a discount when you place an order online. And, of course, lots of online companies have plenty of regular customers and plenty of satisfied customers. I suppose the bottom line is that it's good for us as consumers to have as much healthy competition as possible.

¹ or do surveys, NOT ~~make~~ surveys ² good at doing what it is supposed to do

We say do the shopping or go shopping, NOT ~~do shopping~~. Do the shopping means the regular daily, weekly or monthly shopping that people do for food and household items. It is a household chore (compare: do the ironing/washing). While go shopping also means this, it has the additional meaning of shopping as a leisure activity (compare: go fishing/swimming).

Complaining about service

I ordered this skirt on the Internet and I'm furious. On their website they promise prompt service. In fact they said they offered a next-day service but it took ten days to come. When I rang up to complain they put me on hold and then never got back to me! Then, when the skirt eventually arrived, the zip was broken. It's really poor quality – though the advert says all their clothes are top quality. I'm going to kick up such a fuss¹. Of course, I'll demand a full refund², but I'd really like an apology as well. And I'll certainly take my custom elsewhere³ in future.

¹ (informal) make a very forcible complaint

² ask for all my money back (NB NOT ~~strongly~~ demand because the verb demand cannot be made stronger in English – it is already strong enough)

³ not buy from the same place again

Company promise

If you have grounds for complaint¹, please contact our Head Office at the address below. We pride ourselves on providing an excellent service and all our products conform to safety regulations². We honour all commitments³ to customers. We take very seriously any complaints about poor service. So if you feel that one of our products does not come up to standard⁴, then we will immediately offer you a replacement. We promise to handle all complaints promptly.

¹ a reason for complaining

³ do what we said we would do

² obey all the rules or laws relating to safety

⁴ reach appropriate standards

A Types of language and conversation

Some conversations are not serious. They consist of idle chatter, in which the speakers just exchange pleasantries¹ or share juicy² gossip about their friends and colleagues, exchanging news and spreading rumours. Rumours are always flying around in any society, of course. But sometimes when you engage someone in conversation, it may become more serious. You may open your heart to the person you are talking to, for example. You may even find yourself drawn into an argument. Some people always want to win an argument; for others losing the argument is not important as they simply enjoy a good discussion. If you are in a very noisy place, it can become impossible to carry on a conversation of any kind and it is also hard for parents to hold a conversation when there are small children in the room.

¹ (formal) make polite conversation ² (informal) interesting because it is shocking or personal

B Managing topics

Hi Jane,

As you know, I wanted to talk to my parents yesterday about my plans for dropping out of university but I didn't have much luck. First of all, I found it very hard to broach the subject¹. As soon as I started explaining how badly I wanted to start earning, one of them would change the subject. It was as if they were deliberately trying to avoid something they sensed was going to be a problem. Eventually I managed to bring up the subject again and they finally started to take me seriously. I tried not to overstate my case² for leaving and just put things as simply as I could. But then they started to bombard me with questions³. Why did I really want to leave? What would I do? Did I realise that I would get a much better job with a degree? Dad didn't listen to my answers – he just started making broad generalisations about the importance of education. He went on and on for about half an hour before telling me to drop the subject and never refer to it again. So I'm not sure what to do next. Any advice?

A Talking about festivals

Ballynue Fiddle Festival (18 July)

This fun festival falls on the third Saturday of July, and the village becomes the centre of wild music for the whole day. The festival celebrates the birthday of Pat Davey, a famous local musician. This year's special guests include Anne O'Keeffe (fiddle) and Ger Downes (guitar), who will uphold¹ the annual tradition of playing at the house where Davey was born.

¹ also keep up

² (journalistic/literary) very old

³ also festival marks

⁴ usually refers to the time around Christmas and New Year

Golden Apple Week (3-9 Sep)

Every year, the villagers of Hartsby hold an unusual festival – the Week of the Golden Apple. Hartsby, at the centre of the apple-growing region, celebrates this tradition, which dates back to the Middle Ages, at the beginning of every September. The festival is held to celebrate the apple harvest. Come and join in the festivities and eat as many apples as you want! Tickets £5 (children £2)

Fire and Light Festival (18 Dec)

It may be winter, dark and cold, but the village of Taft will be in festive mood on December 18th. Wearing traditional dress, the women of the village perform dances around a huge fire in the main square, while the men keep up the age-old² tradition of wearing large, brightly-coloured hats and carrying lanterns. The event marks³ the beginning of the festive season⁴.

B Traditional festivities

Different religions often have movable feasts¹ which depend on the phases of the moon. There is a rich tradition of music and dance in central Sweden.

Jazz and blues are part of the cultural heritage of the southern United States.

Every year the town puts on a firework display as part of the festival.

We have a proud tradition of raising funds for charity through our annual town festival.

This month some of our students are observing the festival of Ramadan.

In a break with tradition this year's festival will feature modern dances alongside traditional ones.

¹ can refer to any arrangement, plan or appointment where the date is flexible

C A wedding celebration

Look at this speech by the best man (usually the bridegroom's best or oldest male friend) at a wedding. He mixes informal and formal collocations, which can have a humorous effect.

"Ladies and Gentlemen, according to long-standing¹ tradition, I now have to make a speech, but it'll be very short, so here goes. I never thought Jim would ever get hitched², but he's finally decided to tie the knot³. Yesterday he was suffering from pre-wedding nerves, but today he looked calm and happy as he and Sally were joined in matrimony⁴. So now, I'd like to propose a toast⁵ to the bride and groom. Please raise your glasses. To Sally and Jim! May they have many years of wedded bliss⁶!"

¹ which has existed for along time ^{2/3} (informal) get married ⁴ (formal: used as part of the marriage ceremony) married ⁵ also make a toast ⁶ (usually used slightly humorously) happiness through being married

Dress is an uncountable noun when it refers to a style of clothing (e.g. traditional dress, formal dress). Don't say traditional dresses; this would mean dresses for women only.

Interview with a fashion model

Reporter: Would you say that fashion has always been important to you?

Beth: Well, ever since I was a child, I've loved reading glossy magazines¹, looking at the photos and finding out what's in fashion.

Reporter: And as you grew up, did you buy designer label clothes?

Beth: Oh, no! I couldn't afford them, and I was actually quite happy with high-street fashion². But I loved looking at fashion shows on TV, especially when Paris or Milan designers launched their new collections.

Reporter: And now you are the one showing us the new season's look³ and setting the trend⁴!

Beth: That's right. I still can't quite believe it.

Reporter: So what should we be wearing this year?

Beth: Well, there is a stunning range of new leisurewear about to hit the high street⁵. It's based on the new adventure-influenced trend we saw coming out of Paris and I think it's going to be a hugely popular look. And it's going to be comfortable to wear too.

Reporter: That's good. So, have you ever let yourself become a fashion victim⁶?

Beth: Well, I must admit I've worn some excruciatingly uncomfortable shoes in the past, so I'm happy to report that flat shoes are definitely back in fashion!

Traffic and driving

Traffic problems

Traffic has been severely disrupted¹ on the M82 motorway, owing to an accident. Currently all traffic is being diverted² through the village of Oxtoe. Motorists are advised to avoid the area as heavy traffic is expected on many side roads for the rest of the day.

Traffic is very dense³ on all routes into the city at the moment because of this evening's football cup final. Lengthy delays are expected around the National Stadium area. The heavy traffic is not expected to die down⁴ till around 10pm. So walk or cycle to the match if you want to avoid getting stuck in traffic.

If you're thinking of using the N27 this morning, don't! Traffic is currently tailing back⁵ over ten kilometres, following an accident near junction 14. Police say traffic is building up on all approach roads and is not expected to ease off⁶ during the next three hours.

Learning to drive

Hi Nina,
I'm learning to drive at last! All the jobs I want require a valid¹ driving licence, so I've no choice. I'm hoping to take my driving test in about four months' time, but the last lesson didn't go too well. I'm finding it really hard to change gear. Getting into reverse is particularly hard and I can sense my instructor flinching whenever I grind the gears². Perhaps I should have opted to learn on an automatic car!
Paul

Hi Paul,
Much better to learn on a manual car – then you can drive anything after your test. Driving tests are awful. I remember mine when I came to the UK and needed a current UK licence. The examiner told me to bear left³ at a junction and I went right! I'd never driven a right-hand-drive car before. I had to remember to keep to the left instead of to the right. It was a nightmare.
Nina

A new kind of transport

A bike that travels sideways

It has been hailed as the first major development in bicycle design for 150 years. The Sideways Bike has a steerable wheel with a set of handlebars at either end. The cyclist sits sideways and operates a wheel with each hand. However, some people don't like the fact that the rider doesn't face the oncoming traffic. Its key advantage is that it's more manoeuvrable than a conventional bike. It's very like snowboarding because you're moving sideways. That affords you tremendous grace, though it will never win you the Tour de France!

Exercises

25.1 Choose the correct collocation.

- 1 After the accident the traffic failed / tailed / held back for more than five miles.
- 2 The traffic didn't die back / up / down until long after the rock concert.

An exciting trip

Read Catherine's account of her trip to South America.

I'd always had a thirst for adventure and often get itchy feet so I could hardly contain my excitement when I set off for South America for a year. After a 12-hour flight to São Paulo, Brazil, I had another long flight to Manaus in the Amazon. Then I went by bus to a smaller town. It was a very arduous¹ journey. I should have broken the journey² somewhere but I did it all in one go. Next time, I'll have a stopover³ in São Paulo, have a bit of a rest and do the sights there before travelling on.

After two fantastic weeks in the Amazon I got a flight on a low-cost airline to Rio de Janeiro. I then tried to get a flight to Peru but they were all full, so they put me on standby⁴. Luckily I got a seat on the flight I wanted.

In Peru I went trekking in the Andes with a group. The guide took us off the beaten track and I felt like an intrepid⁵ explorer from another century in some unexplored wilderness. There was a real sense of adventure. One day we actually got hopelessly lost. It was getting dark and we were afraid they'd have to send out a search party to look for us. But then we met some locals who were very friendly and helped us get back on to our path. It was a great trip.

¹ difficult, tiring, needing a lot of effort ² stopped for a short time ³ have a brief (usually) overnight stay in a place when on a long journey to somewhere else, usually by air

⁴ made me wait to see if a seat became available ⁵ brave, with no fear of dangerous situations

Articles about travel adventures

Note the collocations in these brief magazine items about travel adventures.

Some longed-for sunny spells have boosted the spirits¹ of three British women hoping to set a polar trekking record. The women have faced severe weather conditions since setting off to walk to the North Pole 18 days ago. However, the team's base camp manager said she had spoken to them yesterday by satellite phone and they had been relieved to report the weather was sunny and their spirits were high².

London to Tangier by train: Whilst this journey may not compare in terms of sheer epic grandeur to some of the great American train journeys, it does have a special charm all of its own. It may not be cheap but if you keep your eyes peeled³, you can find some surprisingly good deals. If your budget doesn't quite stretch to⁴ a sleeping compartment, you can always just curl up in your seat for the night. Let the rhythmical motion and the dull rumbles of the train lull you to sleep. The first leg of the journey gives you very little indication of what lies ahead ...

¹ made feel more cheerful ² they were in a positive mood ³ (informal) keep your eyes open
⁴ you can't afford

TIP

There are many English language websites relating to the theme of travel and adventure. Try, for example, a magazine site such as www.nationalgeographic.com or an adventure travel company such as www.theadventure.com.

Exercises

26.1 Complete these descriptions of TV documentaries using a word from the box.

1 John Howes presents essential holiday tips for those heading off the track, while Anneke Zousa does the of New York in record time.

2 In this fascinating film, Grieshaus gives us a picture of the largely wilderness of the Kara Kum Desert.

3 Like a(n) explorer of the nineteenth century, James Westly travelled with only two companions.

4 In 1957, Anna Trensholm went through the mountains of North-Eastern Turkey and filmed every step of her way. This unique footage reveals the harshness of her journey.

5 This film conveys a genuine of adventure, as we travel with its makers through the dense jungles of Guyana.

26.2 Choose the correct collocations.

I have always had itchy (1) hands / feet / fingers and last summer I had the amazing opportunity to travel to the – for me at least – (2) unexplored / unplanned / unprepared territory of the Gobi Desert. My budget wouldn't (3) spread / stretch / afford to travelling on a normal flight but I couldn't find a (4) low-cost / low-key / low-cut airline to fly me there. In the end, I got a (5) stand-up / stand-off / standby ticket and it was not too expensive. Once there I joined a group and we made a journey on horseback into the desert. You wouldn't believe the sheer (6) very / mere / epic grandeur of the region. If you keep your eyes (7) peeled / scaled / washed you can see all sorts of amazing plants and creatures. We were lucky with the weather. We were told that the previous group had had to (8) meet / face / address severe weather (9) circumstances / coincidences / conditions. Our main problem was that one day we got (10) hopelessly / fearlessly / carelessly lost and they had to send out a search (11) group / party / set to find us. We felt so stupid. Anyway, the Gobi Desert may not be everyone's choice of holiday destination but I can assure you that it (12) does / gets / has a very special charm of its own.

26.3 Rewrite each sentence using the word in brackets.

- 1 At the beginning the journey was straightforward. (LEG)
- 2 I couldn't afford to travel first class. (STRETCH)

A Emails about a sports camp

Hi Greg,
 How are things with you? I'm having a great time here at this sports camp in New Zealand. I'm taking the opportunity to do¹ several extreme sports like white-water rafting and rock climbing. At the weekend we went to the mountains and I've acquired quite a taste for² snowboarding. I didn't like it much at first – I found it really hard to keep my balance. But my instructor said she was sure I'd get the hang of it³ in a couple of hours. I thought there was precious little chance⁴ of that happening but I decided to take up the challenge and, sure enough, I mastered it. I thought I was pretty fit⁵ but I'm really having to push myself to the limits⁶ to be able to cope. I'm so shattered at night that it takes me about two seconds to fall into a deep sleep. Anyway, despite the tiredness, I'm having a whale of a time⁷. Hope you are too.

Decisions and solutions

Hans Brokaw, head of a company making garden furniture, is announcing to his senior staff plans he is making to move the business exclusively to the Internet.

As you know, for some time now we've been toying¹ with the idea of transferring all our business to Internet-only sales as a long-term solution to the problem of finding good retail outlets. You'll remember that at the last team meeting Rob unveiled² a plan to move the line to the web in three phases over nine months. And Philippa did a great job drumming up support³ for the move among the sales and marketing people. Since then, as you also know, we've had a slight change of plan, and, acting on a suggestion⁴ from the logistics team, we've now decided that the move should happen over 12 months. In order to implement⁵ such a plan, we need to draw up a schedule and stick to⁶ that schedule.

So I'd like to make a tentative suggestion⁷. Before we launch the scheme, I think we should invite the web designers to come here and take us through the process from their side. That will give us the opportunity to exercise greater control over things. I don't think we should just leave everything to their discretion⁸. I'm just aware of how important it's going to be to cover every eventuality⁹ before we commit 100% to the Internet.

We propose to end our relationship with the garden centres where we currently sell. We've reached this decision after careful consideration. We do believe that realistically it's the only option open to us. The deciding factor was losing our biggest customer – the Greenway garden centre chain. After that, we really had no choice.

¹ considering, but not in a focused way ² showed / made known for the first time

Making plans

Note the collocations in this speech at the start of an annual youth summit.

Good morning, friends, and welcome to our summit, the first of what we plan as an annual event! I have been waiting for this day with eager anticipation¹ for a long time. We came up with the idea five years ago and preparations have been underway² ever since. There was a certain amount of necessary groundwork³ to do, of course, before our sponsors were able to reach the decision to support us. But then we were able to turn our attention to how best to put our ideas into practice.

¹ feeling of great excitement about something that is going to happen ² happening

³ work done in preparation

Rejecting plans

Someone may declare outright opposition or outright hostility to a plan. [say they are completely opposed/hostile] A plan can be rejected out of hand. [totally rejected] Those who do not like a plan or piece of work may offer constructive criticism. [criticism which is useful and intended to help or improve]

Note that we come to or arrive at a conclusion, NOT ~~make~~ a conclusion.

Film and book reviews

Note the collocations in these reviews of the same film from different publications.

Quality newspapers

Larissa is an excellent film. It tells the story of what happens when a young woman decides to try to find out what really happened to her grandmother, who disappeared in Russia in the 1930s under mysterious circumstances. As the suspense builds up, Larissa sets off an amazing chain of events. It's an incredibly gripping film and its direction shows startling originality.

It was certainly a bold experiment¹ to cast Jenni Adams as a woman twice her age, but Jenni is a very accomplished actor and a consummate professional², and she carried it off brilliantly. And the rest of the star-studded cast gave a dazzling display of their talents too. The film, which documents an extraordinary series of events, was spectacularly successful in the US – the New York Times gave it glowing reviews³, and not without good reason.

¹ a brave and risky thing to do ² (formal) complete professional ³ very positive reviews

Popular (tabloid) newspaper

Whoever decided to cast Jenni Adams in the role of the disappearing grandma in Larissa must have been out of their mind. An unmitigated disaster⁴, strongly influenced⁵ by the very worst kind of Hollywood sentimentality. The only good thing was the theme music. Perhaps they'll release the CD of it – that would be something. The cinema next door was showing Screech of the Vampire – now that I would highly recommend⁶ ... if you can bear the suspense⁷!

⁴ total disaster ⁵ or heavily influenced, but NOT highly influenced

⁶ thoroughly recommend is also possible ⁷ can stand the excitement

Entertainment magazine

I usually think highly of Joel Hanson's films but this one, based on a novel by Slevan Gorsky, is a dismal failure. In spite of the all-star cast, the film just didn't hold my attention the way the book did. I was a college student when I read it, but it made a lasting impression⁸ on me. It fired my imagination more than any other book has ever done, and awakened my interest in Russia in the 1930s so much that my poor old bookshelves are groaning with books on Russian history! The film, however, simply failed to create⁹ the atmosphere of Leningrad in the 1930s which the book achieved so successfully.

⁸ We can also say an indelible impression, meaning a permanent one ⁹ also evoke an atmosphere

Someone can have a considerable reputation or a well-deserved reputation, but NOT a high reputation.

A Health and safety regulations

Dear colleague,

As you are probably aware, the Government has recently passed new laws relating to health and safety in the workplace. These new regulations have been introduced¹ to standardise procedure in workplaces across the country and ensure that employers adhere to standards.

The enclosed guide details the steps you need to take in order to comply with these new laws. All employers have an obligation to carry out a risk assessment². Failure to do so will leave us in breach of the law³. The purpose of the risk assessment is to minimise danger to employees and also to make it easier for employers to satisfy the requirements of the regulations.

All department heads have an obligation to read the information in the guide carefully. Please do so, and if you have any further questions, I will be happy to answer them.

We say We could not arrive at an agreement or We could not reach an agreement, NOT We could not ~~get to~~ or We could not ~~find~~ an agreement.

B Planning permission

If you wish to build, say, an extension to your house, it is absolutely essential¹ to seek permission² to do so. If your plan is approved, then you will be granted permission³ to build. But it is becoming more difficult to obtain permission⁴ as the government has introduced new legislation which has tightened controls⁵. It can take quite some time after putting in an application for permission to be given. This is because the planning officers have to ensure that your plans do not infringe the regulations⁶ relating to building in your area.

Be wary of treating the planning officers as faceless bureaucrats⁷; they are in a position of considerable authority, though some of them are more vigorous about exercising authority⁸ than others. Some will be prepared to cut through the red tape⁹ for you, whereas others might seem to be doing everything they can to block your plans, especially if they think you are trying to flout the rules¹⁰.

- All our sister organisations stick to the standards listed in the Code of Practice.
- We asked for permission to build on a field next to our house and after some time we were given that permission.
- It is important that all citizens should do what the law says they should do.
- If your business doesn't meet the legal requirements, you may find yourself prosecuted for breaking company law.

30.3 Complete this letter of complaint using words from the opposite page.

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing to complain about the behaviour of our town council. When its members were elected to (1) of authority, they promised to (2) the ridiculous amount of red tape that is choking modern society. Yet all they have done is (3) still more pointless new legislation, thus (4) controls over the ordinary family. They have turned out to be no better than their predecessors, (5) bureaucrats, all of them. Their latest decision – to (6) a plan to build a multi-million new council office block – is an absolute disgrace!

Damaging the environment

Read this extract from a report on getting rid of waste.

Disposal of household waste is a daunting task for local authorities. Towns and cities cannot just dump¹ such waste and hope it will go away. Household waste contains many materials and substances which are extremely harmful to the environment, and authorities need long-term solutions. Efforts to recycle waste are only a partial solution. Meanwhile, the problem of toxic² waste remains. One expert recently warned that the risks to public health are so great that we may have less than a decade to avoid an environmental catastrophe on a global scale.

Climate change and its consequences

Here is an interview with Gary Prime, the American rock star known for his support of environmental campaigns, who is visiting London.

Interviewer: Would you agree that climate change is the most urgent issue facing us today?

Prime: Definitely. You only have to look at the changing weather patterns in many parts of the world. It's absolutely vital that we change our ways before it's too late. Parts of Europe which used to be cooler now experience intense, searing heat¹, and temperatures soar above the average every summer. Other areas suffer widespread flooding on a regular basis. We can't continue in this way without there being dire² consequences.

Interviewer: So what can people do in the face of this irreversible climate change?

Prime: Yes, there is. We can all reduce our carbon footprint³ by flying less, and reduce our food miles⁴ by buying local produce. Some airlines have schemes now for offsetting carbon emissions⁵.

Interviewer: Flying's only one part of it, though. Most of the problems come from vehicle emissions and power stations.

Prime: True, but there are things we can do about that too. Buy a hybrid car⁶, develop alternative energy sources for homes, solar heating for instance, and build more offshore⁷ wind farms. Oil supplies will run dry⁸ within 50 years. Renewable energy can make a real difference. And politicians shouldn't be afraid of introducing green taxes⁹ and incentives to encourage eco-friendly design in architecture. With sufficient will, we can find a solution.

Interviewer: Gary Prime, thank you for giving up your time for this interview.

Prime: No problem, I've got just enough time to catch my flight to Los Angeles.

¹ extreme heat ² extremely serious ³ amount of carbon dioxide created by an activity/person/business ⁴ distance food has to travel between where it is grown or made and where it is consumed ⁵ paying for an equivalent amount of carbon dioxide to be saved elsewhere ⁶ a car which can alternate between different energy sources (e.g. petrol and battery) ⁷ at sea, away from the coast ⁸ finish ⁹ taxes which relate to the protection of the environment

B Country life versus city life

Jerome has just moved from his home village into a big town. He emails Rosie about it.

Hi Rosie,
Well, I did it. I moved into town. I must say I don't miss the rustic charm¹ of life in the back of beyond²! For some people Little Snoring is a rural idyll, but for me it was always just a quiet backwater³ in the middle of nowhere where nothing ever happened and where I was bored rigid⁴. I've only been in town a week, but I love everything about it – the crowded streets, the hectic pace⁵ of life, the fact that you can get a cappuccino or hail a taxi at two in the morning.
So when are you coming to visit?

C City Council plans

GOOD NEWS FOR INNER CITY LIFE

City Councillors last night approved extensive plans for urban regeneration.

Key features of the plan include the restoration of derelict buildings¹ and a tree-planting scheme.

The hope is that the inner city will soon resemble the leafy suburbs as an attractive and desirable place to live.

Planners believe that an increase in the number of residential dwellings² in the town centre will ease the problem of congested roads and night-time crime: with commercial and recreational facilities within walking distance and open all hours, it is hoped that many people will choose to leave their cars at home, and that it will be safer to walk on the street at night.

¹ buildings that are not cared for and are in a very bad condition ² (formal, official) homes

A Managing your finances

Read this leaflet on personal financial management given out by a university to its students. Note the collocations.

££££££ Keeping afloat¹ – how to manage your finances ££££££

While you're doing your degree, your main source of income may be a student loan or, if you're lucky, a grant or scholarship. But you may well still need to supplement² your income by getting some kind of part-time work. Here are some tips for avoiding financial problems:

- ▶ Open a current account at the campus bank – they have a team there which specialises in helping students with their financial matters.
- ▶ If you get into debt, try to clear³ your debts as soon as possible.
- ▶ If things are difficult, you may have to economise by, say, cutting down on luxuries. This is far better than running up huge debts⁴.
- ▶ If you have a credit-card debt, try to make a payment every month, however small. Never exceed your agreed credit limit.
- ▶ It's a bad idea to borrow heavily to repay your debts. Always seek advice from your bank about how to clear outstanding⁵ debts and pay back loans.
- ▶ Never run up an overdraft⁶ if you can avoid it. If you do need one, remember that most banks will offer students an interest-free overdraft.

¹ having enough money to pay what you owe (can also be staying afloat) ² add something to something to make it larger or better ³ pay in full ⁴ continuing to spend and therefore owing a large amount of money ⁵ not yet paid ⁶ amount of money that a customer with a bank account is temporarily allowed to owe to the bank

B Financial crimes and disputes

These newspaper clips are all concerned with financial crimes and problems.

Credit-card fraud¹ has reached an all-time high. One in ten people are the victims of identity theft² and the crime is on the increase.

Mr Ambrose spent a fortune staying at expensive hotels. He managed to run up³ a bill of £7,000 at one hotel. He used his employer's funds and falsified⁴ records. He made fraudulent claims for travel expenses.

People are being encouraged to put down a deposit⁵ on new homes, thanks to low interest rates. But if borrowers default on repayments⁶, banks are obliged to call in loans⁷.

The company is now under new management. Its backers have written off debts⁸ of £100,000 on the promise of new cost-cutting measures designed to solve the company's financial problems.

¹ crime of misusing another person's credit card without their permission ² stealing someone's personal details, usually in order to access their bank accounts or credit cards ³ accumulate ⁴ changed something, e.g. a document, in order to deceive people ⁵ pay a sum of money in advance as part of a total payment ⁶ fail to pay a debt ⁷ demand that a person pay back the money the bank has lent to them ⁸ accepted that an amount of money has been lost or that a debt will not be paid

Budget speech

As we can all testify, this country's economy is strong and getting stronger. Our measures to curb inflation¹ have proved highly successful. The rampant inflation² of the previous government is a thing of the past. Inflation currently stands at 2 per cent. The strength of the current economic climate suggests that interest rates are unlikely to be raised again this year. This should help us to build up a culture of investing for the long-term.

This Government has steered the economy through seven years of uninterrupted economic growth; a trend which is set to continue with our major success in stimulating growth. And in the latest quarter, the economy has been growing at an annual rate of 2.5 per cent.

All indicators show that industry is thriving³. But we are particularly proud of the steady growth experienced by small businesses. We have made it our aim to safeguard their interests⁴ and the healthy economy we have created has enabled them to increase output. The plummeting profits⁵ caused by the previous government's misguided policies are now safely behind them.

Our goal is to establish world-class public services through investment and reform in order to ensure that taxpayers receive real value for money. Public spending goes to provide strong and dependable public services. These are vital to extend opportunity, tackle social exclusion⁶ and improve people's life chances.

The taxes that we levy⁷ allow us to allocate resources to achieve that goal. And we have met with considerable success⁸. In particular, we must now build on the success⁹ of the climate-change levy we introduced last year.

Another of our goals is to win the battle against the black economy. If left unchecked¹⁰, the black economy – I think here particularly of the loss to our economy of undeclared earnings¹¹ and other tax evasion practices – will push up costs¹² and lead to rising unemployment. This government is committed to its eradication.

¹ control inflation [continuous increase in prices]

Expressing views about crime and punishment

Look at these extracts from calls to a radio phone-in programme called 'Your Call to Jeremy', which on this occasion is about crime and punishment.

Hello, Jeremy. I want to know why financial criminals in the City always seem to escape punishment, while poor people always seem to receive custodial sentences¹ even for committing minor offences.

My view is that if someone is put on trial and is found guilty and given a sentence, then they should have to serve out² their sentence. Releasing someone early for good behaviour is a complete nonsense.

Jeremy, I'd like to point out that there have been a couple of serious miscarriages of justice³ recently and people don't seem to realise how damaging this is. No one should face trial on the basis of unreliable evidence or trumped-up charges⁴.

We're facing soaring⁵ crime rates in this city and it's about time the criminals were brought to justice. And I'm sick of hearing about extenuating circumstances⁶ – that someone had a deprived childhood, or they're not fit to stand trial. Rubbish!

- ¹ a sentence to be served in a prison or similar institution ² serve the full amount of time
³ situation where innocent people are found guilty ⁴ invented and false accusations
⁵ rising very fast ⁶ circumstances that lessen the blame, also mitigating circumstances

Courts and trials

These newspaper clips contain typical collocations about courts and trials.

A key witness gave evidence today in the Misthorpe murder trial. The witness claimed to have seen the accused leaving Ms Bartram's house. The trial was adjourned¹ until March 7th. The accused, 27-year-old Liam Grout, was remanded in custody².

In a unanimous verdict³ today in Raylton District Court, Clare Irene Wilson, 37, was found not guilty of murder. The judge said the prosecution had failed to prove beyond reasonable doubt that Ms Wilson was guilty.

Mr Hanry had denied all knowledge of the alleged fraudulent business deal. His lawyers attempted to show that Derek Yardley was an unreliable witness. Despite suggestions that the judge might dismiss the case⁴, he found in favour of Mr Hanry and awarded damages⁵ to him.

Mary Jones was released this morning after her lawyers successfully contested the verdict⁶ which sentenced her to prison for three years. The judge, Mr James Egdon, overturned the verdict in the Court of Appeal. Mary Jones herself did not appear in court but later said that she felt justice had been served.

- ¹ was suspended till a later time or date ⁵ ordered the organisation or person who has been responsible for causing injury or loss to pay money to the victim as compensation

44.3 Correct the reference letter below by replacing the underlined words with more appropriate collocations.

I am happy to do as a referee for James McBride, who has applied for a teaching post at your language school. I take every confidence in Mr McBride's abilities as a teacher. He spent last summer working at the school where I am Principal and he was a very appreciated member of our staff. He was very successful in getting a good relationship with both students and staff. He has a high education with a particularly wide knowledge of English literature. He combines high teaching qualifications with wide experience of teaching students at all levels of English. He also has high computer skills, which should certainly prove useful in a technologically advanced school such as yours.

44.4 Choose the correct collocation.

- 1 Jenny revealed / provided some surprising talents during our expedition.
- 2 I'd wholeheartedly / implicitly recommend Mr Lee for promotion.
- 3 Mehmet has every ability to meet / run the challenges of the position.
- 4 I am delighted to provide / act a reference for Meena Mistry.
- 5 The position would require you to perform / hone a wide range of tasks.
- 6 Your contributions to the project are highly / wholeheartedly valued.

Appearance and personality

A Describing how people look and behave

Note the collocations in these interviews where famous people discuss their own or other people's personality traits (or personal characteristics).

Film star Jerry Bowen

Interviewer: You seem to have had such a special relationship with Kara Hanson over many years. What is it about working with her?

Bowen: Kara's wonderful. She just seems to have boundless energy¹ and she's always been able to boost people's confidence², especially new young actors. She has a wonderful, bubbly³ personality and she's got a dazzling smile. She bears a striking resemblance to⁴ Ingrid Bergman, one of the great cinema beauties. She has some wonderful personal qualities that are so rare in stars nowadays.

Ex-rock star Eddie Stewart

Interviewer: You always had a troubled relationship with your drummer, Kaz Porter, in the days of your band, The Loop. Kaz died in 1987. How do you remember him now?

Stewart: Well, Kaz was not an easy person to work with. He had a very thinly disguised⁵ dislike of the music industry and the people in it. Politeness wasn't his strong point! He had a real stubborn streak⁶ that made him unpopular with managers and agents. But, you know, behind that gruff exterior he had a sharp wit⁸.

Interviewer: You say gruff, some would say downright rude. Would that be too harsh? He always seemed full of pent-up anger⁹ towards the world in general.

Stewart: Well, 'rude' is a bit unfair. Yeah, he had a forthright¹⁰ manner, and he was capable of open hostility if he thought we were being manipulated.

Interviewer: Yes, he did display some rather scary characteristics.

⁵ barely hidden ⁶ a stubborn side to his character ⁷ rude and unfriendly

⁸ was very amusing in a clever way ⁹ anger which he didn't express ¹⁰ direct

Retired golfer Andy Barstow

Interviewer: Andy, you're retired, you're a senior citizen, but everyone would agree you certainly don't look your age¹¹. What's your secret?

Barstow: Well thanks. I'm sure some people would say I don't act my age¹² either!

Interviewer: Oh, that's not necessarily a bad thing! You do always seem to be bursting with energy!

Barstow: That's what golf does for you!

¹¹ look as old as you are ¹² behave in a manner expected of your age

B Other useful collocations for behaviour and appearance

She had a blank expression on her face. [showing no understanding or emotion]

Talking about space

Hi Liz,
How frustrating house-hunting is! We've just looked at a city-centre flat near Oliver's new job. The estate agent's ad said it was 'spacious'. Ha, ha! How anyone could live in such a confined space, I don't know. It was tiny. I know you have to expect cramped conditions in the city centre but this was ridiculous. We're short of space already where we are now, what with the new baby and everything. Kids take up a lot of space, don't they?
Love,
Emma

Dear Emma,
Sorry to hear of your problems. Yes, kids do seem to take up a lot of room. But listen, a friend of ours is selling her house in town and moving to Australia. It's not huge, but there's ample¹ room for a family with two children. There's even a garden, and though it's not a vast expanse, it's very pleasant. There's a shed on it at the moment, which is a bit of a waste of space² but that could be removed to leave room for a play-area. There's no garage, but it's on a quiet street and there are always plenty of vacant parking spaces. Let me know if you're interested and I'll have a word with her.
Best,
Liz

¹ more than enough ² bad use of space when there is limited amount of it

Note that you can say ample space/room; leave space/room; short of space/room and take up a lot of space/room. However, you can only talk about something being a waste of space (NOT a waste of room).

Talking about time

In these magazine clips, notice the useful collocations for talking about time.

Pop bands come and go over the course of time¹, but few bands have made such a lasting contribution as The Beatles. They will go down in history² as possibly the greatest pop musicians of all time. Their music represents the golden era³ of British pop in the 1960s, and every one of their songs brings back memories of that unforgettable time. Their music is all preserved for posterity⁴ on a new set of re-mastered CDs.

¹ as time passes ² be remembered ³ can also be golden age; period of time when a particular art, business, etc. was very successful ⁴ (formal) kept for people in the future

Buildings from a bygone era⁵ are the main attraction at Castmere Folk Village. Homes, shops, even a cinema, have been restored to their former glory⁶ in a massive project that has now reached completion.

⁵ (literary) a time in the distant past ⁶ glory here means 'beauty'

For many people, the 1960s are nothing more than a dim and distant⁷ memory, but in the decades that have elapsed, those of us born in the 60s begin to realise how that decade, which is still well within living memory for much of the population, has shaped our destiny. Our parents worked with pen and paper, or machines, or with their hands. They couldn't have known how computers would change everything in the not-so-distant future⁸. All indications are that many more changes will help to shape our children's lives in the foreseeable future⁹.

⁷ remembered slightly, but not very well ⁸ not the immediate future but relatively near ⁹ as far into the future as you can imagine or plan for

TIP

Making things easier

Choosing your approach

COMPLETING A TASK – HOW TO DO IT

When you need to work out the easiest way to do something, you have to explore different ways of approaching the task. Sometimes there will be many feasible¹ alternatives to consider and sometimes there will only be one or two viable² options. You need to enlist the help of people to give you advice before you decide on which method to adopt.

The best advice is to take a step-by-step approach: break the task down into stages, so that you are dealing with small manageable chunks. This way you will soon find that something you thought was hard is in fact simplicity itself³. But be careful, don't always take what looks like the easy option. Think first. At the end, you can feel proud that you didn't just take the easy way out⁴.

² workable

³ extremely simple

⁴ do what is easiest but not what is best – which may mean avoiding doing anything at all

Ways of remembering

Notice the collocations in this text introducing techniques for improving your memory.

A trained memory is an immense asset¹, particularly in public life. Mnemonics are systems for dealing with the complexities of learning and remembering, and people who use them can recall things with an amazing degree of accuracy.

The Ancient Greeks perfected² a number of mnemonic techniques, some of which are still used today, for example, using the first letter of each item to form a word that will help you remember the whole list of items. For instance, you might remember the female first name, ADA, to help you recall the phrase amazing degree of accuracy. Or you might think of the word BAG, which will give you three colours that collocate with hair (blond, auburn, ginger).

A simple rule of all memory training systems is the idea of 'Initial Awareness'. This works in a straightforward³ way. The basic principle is that the system helps you concentrate the mind on whatever you are trying to remember for just long enough to force Initial Awareness.

This may sound like hard work at first, but in fact all memory training systems are perfectly simple. Once you have taken the time to learn them, you will be able to instantly recall any new items of information you want to, with remarkable ease.

² the verb is pronounced /pɜː'fekt/

³ easy to understand or simple

TIP

Do you know any mnemonic techniques to help you learn vocabulary? If possible, share them with other students.

Use a search engine or corpus to find sentences using (a) cause and (b) effect. Note down five sentences for each word, illustrating typical collocations.

Describing groups and amounts

A Groups of animals

When we describe a group of animals, the word we use depends on the animals we are talking about. So, we talk about a pack of dogs, hounds or wolves but a herd of cattle and elephants (and other large herbivorous mammals). We say a swarm of bees/locusts (and other flying insects) but we say a flock of birds and also a flock of sheep.

Other more unusual examples include a pride of lions, a shoal of fish or sardines (or other specific small fish), a school or pod of dolphins or whales, a tribe of monkeys or baboons.

B Feelings and behaviour

Here are some collocations using 'amount' words relating to feelings and behaviour. Note that the further collocations listed in the third column do not all relate to feelings or behaviour.

Comparing and contrasting

Comparing two places

Emily has been offered two different jobs. The jobs are fundamentally similar but they are in different towns – Alton and Belville. The two towns bear very little resemblance to¹ each other. Alton is a small town by the sea; Belville is entirely different as it is a large industrial town. Alton is a beautiful old town which attracts a lot of tourists. This is in marked contrast to Belville, which is rather an ugly town. There is a wide variation in the cost of accommodation in the two towns. Emily could rent a flat much more cheaply in Belville.

There is also a world of difference in the entertainment on offer in the two places. Both towns have several cinemas and theatres, but because there is a clear distinction between the types of people who live in each place – there are far more students and other young people in Belville – there is a yawning gap² between what the cinemas and theatres show. Belville tends to have a lot of foreign films and original new plays, and those are much more to Emily's taste. The options for eating out also differ widely. Although Alton is smaller, it has a lot of good restaurants, though they do tend to be rather expensive. Belville is the exact opposite. It has a small number of relatively inexpensive restaurants.

To sum up, Alton and Belville are in many respects polar opposites³. Emily is finding it hard to make up her mind. As soon as she decides that the advantages of Alton outweigh its disadvantages⁴, then someone reminds her of the other side of the argument. Which of these two strikingly different places do you think she should decide to move to?

² an enormous difference

³ extreme opposites

⁴ are stronger than the disadvantages

Finding a balance

Tom: How's work going these days, Karl? Are you still at the bank?

Karl: Didn't you know I'd left? I decided to do something fundamentally different last year and retrained as a teacher.

Tom: Wow! That's a bit of a change! Your salary as a teacher surely doesn't bear comparison with¹ what you got as an investment banker.

Karl: Yes, but in other respects teaching compares very favourably with banking. I find it very personally rewarding – the financial advantages of banking pale in comparison².

Tom: So, what appeals to you so much about teaching?

Karl: Well, a teaching friend of mine once drew a comparison between teaching and gardening. Teachers tend children in much the same way as gardeners tend flowers. I love gardening, so perhaps that's why I love teaching so much!

Tom: But lots of people say it's a very stressful job these days.

Karl: Perhaps. When I first started, I found it hard to strike the balance between being firm and being friendly. I wanted to be my pupils' friend but I soon learnt that you can never totally bridge the gap between pupil and teacher.

Tom: Yes, I guess there's a subtle distinction³ between being friendly and being weak.

Karl: That's right. Anyway I think I've got the balance right now and I have no regrets at all about my career change – despite the growing disparity⁴ between what I earn now and the salaries of my ex-colleagues still at the bank.

¹ can't be compared with ² seem unimportant ³ also subtle difference ⁴ increasing difference

Exercises

55.1 Look at A. Complete the sentences.

All the collocations in this unit are typical of informal English.

A Conversations

Zita: I was looking for a birthday present for my nephew but I didn't have much luck.
You don't have any bright ideas, do you?

Alan: You could just give him some money or a book token perhaps?

Zita: That thought occurred to me, but then it looks like I haven't gone to any trouble.

Lisa: I really hate my sister's new boyfriend, Greg. I went out for a meal with them last night and he really had a go at her for being late. He really got to her¹.

Pat: You're being a bit hard on him. I'm sure he didn't mean any harm².

Lisa: I'm not so sure about that. Actually, I don't think I can bear the thought of ever having to spend time with him again.

Pat: Well, it's not you who is going out with him. I wouldn't lose any sleep³ over it.

Ana: How do you feel about Nina going to work in Tasmania?

Tania: Goodness, news travels fast! I didn't realise anyone else knew about it yet. Well, it came as a bit of a shock when she first told me. But, to be brutally honest, now I've had time to think about it, I'm finding it a bit of a welcome relief.

Ana: I know the feeling⁴. She can be good fun but she's so sharp-tongued that I have to say I'll be glad to see the back of⁵ her.

Paul: Are you up for⁶ going to Sam's leaving party tonight? We're planning to give him a really good send-off⁷.

Adam: I really don't think I can make it. I'm just too tired. The simple reason is I've been on the go⁸ all week and I haven't had a decent night's sleep for ages. I just can't face the thought of going out tonight.

Paul: Well, that's a feeble excuse, if ever there was one.

Adam: I know, and I feel terrible about it because I really like him. I might invite him to my house for dinner next week instead. Would you like to come too?

Paul: Sure, I'll be up for that. Give me a ring⁹ or drop me an email with the details.

Political interviews

- Interviewer: Despite the fact that you gave repeated assurances that you would not raise taxes, you seem to have broken your promise and raised five different taxes. Can you offer an explanation for why this happened? Haven't you betrayed the trust of the voters?
- Politician: I reject that charge completely. We have kept our manifesto promise and not raised the basic rate of income tax at all.
- Interviewer: Yes, but you've raised indirect taxes instead, so, in effect, you've gone back on¹ your promise of no tax increases, have you not?
- Politician: No. We made a commitment with regard to the basic rate of income tax. And I'm happy to reaffirm² that commitment now. The basic rate will remain unchanged ...

CAN NEVER GIVE A STRAIGHT³
ANSWER! THEY'RE GREAT AT DODGING⁴ THE QUESTION.

- ¹ not kept, or changed in some way
² strongly state again
³ direct and honest
⁴ avoiding

Discussing communication

- Tutor: Right. I want to put the following question to you: do you think the channels of communication between politicians and the people are adequate?
(The students are silent.)
- Tutor: Well, let me frame¹ the question differently. Do politicians genuinely communicate directly with the public? Zoë, what do you think?
- Zoë: Not really. It's just soundbites on TV, isn't it? They hardly ever meet ordinary people face-to-face. They don't mind fielding² questions from journalists, they're used to that, but that's not the same as confronting the issues directly with real people.
- Tutor: Well, that's a fair comment. But what about politicians who have websites and write blogs? Are these better ways of establishing communication with people? Young people don't watch TV; they're on the web all the time.
- Paul: With all due respect³, I think you're missing the point⁴, if you don't mind me saying so. The politicians can still keep their distance. They don't have to face a grilling⁵ from journalists or anyone if they just have a web page or a blog. In some ways it's worse than media interviews.
- Tutor: Fine. I take your point⁶. But no politician can meet everyone face-to-face, so communicating with as many people as possible using technology could be seen as more genuinely democratic, couldn't it?
- Imelda: Yes, but they become less accountable. If there's a scandal, they just issue a denial, and when did you last hear a politician give a full apology for getting things wrong? They enter into a contract with the people and if they breach⁷ that contract they should be directly accountable, and not just at election time.
- Tutor: Right. Okay then. Get into groups and discuss ways in which politicians can be made more directly accountable. Okay? About ten minutes.

Interview with a film star

Interviewer: Justine, how did you feel about winning the Oscar?

Justine Fay: I can truly say that my heart leapt when I heard the news. Winning an Oscar has been my lifelong ambition, so this was a dream come true!

Interviewer: And how did your family feel about it?

Justine Fay: My husband is always very supportive. He had high hopes that I would win this time. My mother went into raptures¹! And my son literally jumped for joy. He's now dead keen² to become an actor himself.

Interviewer: And how would you feel about that?

Justine Fay: I've certainly found happiness in this profession. But it doesn't always live up to people's expectations³, of course. It's not as glamorous as it's made out to be.

Interviewer: Do you think it'd work to his advantage⁴ that both parents are in the business?

Justine Fay: Maybe. But it's more important to have talent, of course. And a lot also depends on pure luck, being in the right place at the right time, that sort of thing. But I'd be cautiously optimistic about his chances of success, I think.

Interviewer: Does the fact that your career is currently more successful than your husband's cause any tensions at home?

Justine Fay: Not at all. My husband takes great delight in any success that I have. And I have a profound admiration for his work. I hope one day he'll get the recognition he deserves. But even if he doesn't, we both know that a great many people derive a lot of pleasure from⁵ his films. He receives a lot of quite moving fan mail in which people express their admiration for his work.

Interviewer: Thank you, Justine. It was a great pleasure⁶ to talk to you.

² (informal) very keen

³ isn't as good as expected

⁴ be of benefit to him

⁵ (formal) find great enjoyment in

⁶ NOT a big pleasure

* This expression is very strong and effusive and sounds a little extreme. This is appropriate for an Oscar-winning film star but you should probably take care not to over-use it yourself.

 - 8 I have some niggling doubts

4.3 Author's answers:

cast a concert (7) cast a groan (0) cast a play (382,000) cast a smile (2710)
These results indicate that cast a smile and cast a play are both collocations. Cast a smile is much less frequent than cast a play because it is a more literary expression. Cast a groan and cast a concert are clearly not collocations.

- 4.4 Note that each time you do this you will get a different set of sentences. However you are likely to note these points:

Aspersions almost always collocates with cast.

Indeterminate often collocates with number and age.

Niggling often collocates with doubt, problem and fear.

Tribute often collocates with pay, but also with great and fitting.

4.5 Author's answers:

- 1 teaching – to mark homework, gifted children, to sit an exam
The one bad thing about teaching is all the homework you have to mark.
Teaching is more of a challenge if you have gifted children and children with learning difficulties in the same class.
At the end of my teacher-training course I had to sit a number of exams.
- 2 going to the cinema – spectacular car chase, to win an Oscar, to play the starring role
Cate Blanchett played the starring role in the last film I saw and she won an Oscar for her performance.
In all James Bond films there is at least one spectacular car chase.

- 3 languages – irregular verbs, feminine nouns, to extend your vocabulary
Most irregular verbs in English are ones in everyday use.
Romance languages, for example, distinguish between masculine and feminine nouns and this can be a major problem for students whose first language is English.
Reading is a very good way of extending your vocabulary in any language.
- 4 touring round France – to catch a ferry, delicious food, historical sites
Ferries from England to France are so frequent that there is usually no problem catching one.
France is world-famous for its delicious food.
I usually prefer looking at historical sites to lazing on a beach.
- 5 steak and salad – rare steak, to chop parsley, to crush garlic
I prefer my steak rare.
If you chop the parsley for the sauce, I'll crush some garlic.
- 6 The Bad Mother's Handbook – adopted daughter, to file for divorce, light reading
Nan didn't tell anyone that Karen was her adopted daughter.
Fewer couples filed for divorce last year than in the previous ten years.
Light reading is particularly suitable for travelling or when you just want to relax and not think too much.

Unit 5

| 5 win the battle | |
- 5.2 to jump at the / pass up the / get the / stand a / be in with a chance to face a challenge / to rise to the challenge / to pose a challenge / a direct challenge / a serious challenge
- 5.3 The correct collocations are learn by heart and miss a chance.
- 5.4 Author's answers:
- Three milestones in my life that I have already passed include graduating from university, getting my first job and getting married.
 - I am fully qualified as a teacher.
 - Typical sources of income are wages or salaries, income from investments, rental income and business profits.
 - The toughest challenge I have ever faced was possibly completing my doctoral thesis on time.
 - Someone providing simultaneous translation needs to be bilingual and to have excellent powers of concentration.
 - Personal letters, photos and old diaries have sentimental value for me.
- 5.5
- | | |
|----------|------------|
| 1 Make | 6 avoid |
| 2 Get | 7 Make |
| 3 commit | 8 possible |
| 4 made | 9 made |
| 5 do | |
- Ideally you would tick all the ideas, as they are all good ways of improving your knowledge and use of collocations.

Unit 6

- 6.1
- 1 I feel dead tired all the time. (I)
I feel very/extremely tired all the time.
 - 2 We were all bored stupid by the poetry reading. (I)
We were all very/extremely/utterly bored by the poetry reading.
 - 3 Currency exchange offices are located in the arrivals lounge. (F)
There are exchange offices in the arrival lounge.
 - 4 She conducted a study of single-parent family units. (F)
She did a study of single-parent families.
 - 5 She did her degree in London and found work there in 2001. (N)
 - 6 I just got the latest software so my computer is bang up-to-date. (I)
I have just bought the latest software and so my computer is fully up-to-date.
 - 7 Affix a passport-size photograph to the application form. (F)
Stick a passport photo on the application form.
 - 8 Jake asked his tutor for an extension to complete his dissertation. (N)

You may find it useful to look up some of these expressions in a good dictionary to see what else they collocate with. Paperwork, for example, can be bang up-to-date but a car is unlikely to be described as such.

 - 6 Carola has an eye for a bargain.

- 7.2
- 1 A decrease in savings is likely to go hand in hand with inflation as people will have less money available for saving.
 - 2 If a relationship hits the rocks, it is the end of that relationship.
 - 3 If you say someone is hopping mad, you mean that they are very angry.
 - 4 No, not necessarily. If you run into difficulties or trouble, it just means that you encounter them or have them. The verb run here doesn't have any associations with speed.
 - 5 You'd call a magazine dealing with celebrity gossip light reading. A weighty tome would only be used to refer to a book that is long and has difficult content – unless it is being used ironically, of course. So you might joke to a friend who is reading a celebrity magazine, 'I can see you're reading your usual weighty tome!'
 - 6 If you talk about facing the facts, the facts are likely to be unpleasant.

- 7.5
- 1 The metaphor here is based on the word run. An athlete literally runs in a race. But if he metaphorically runs into trouble that simply means that he has a problem. The problem might not be connected with running in any way.
 - 2 The metaphor is based on the connection between being fat and dieting. Diet pills are intended to help people lose weight but if they have a fat chance of success, they are unlikely to succeed.
 - 3 The play on words is based on the idea of ballet dancers literally dancing on their toes and the figurative meaning of the expression keep someone on their toes which is to keep someone energetic and concentrated.
 - 4 The play on words connects the word foot, used here metaphorically to mean pay, with its literal meaning of the part of the body where we wear shoes.
 - 5 The play on words is based on the fact that hop is a verb closely associated with the movement of rabbits (and frogs). The new legislation must be something that makes rabbit owners angry e.g. a tax on owning rabbits.

 3 a living wage 6 narrow the list down

13.4 Author's answers:

- 1 I suppose that copying materials and collating pages could be called menial work.
- 2 I certainly hope that it will.
- 3 As someone who does a lot of freelance work, I work a lot of unsocial hours. I get up early to work at my computer, for example. But it is my own choice and not imposed on me by an employer, so I don't mind it. The plus side is that I can have a long lunch with a friend whenever I want to.
- 4 When I was working at a language school, there was quite a high turnover of staff as teachers often used to go off and work in different countries.
- 5 When I was teaching in a language school, I often did overtime – taking students on excursions and so on. It was paid.
- 6 No, I haven't. I feel superstitious about it. I worry that if I pretend to be ill then I will soon become ill in reality.
- 7 I haven't taken industrial action but I think I might consider it if colleagues were being wrongly treated.
- 8 Yes, it is. Getting a book ready for publication is very much a team effort.
- 9 As a freelancer I sometimes have a heavy workload and sometimes I don't. It can be quite difficult to spread my work in a balanced way.

Unit 14

- 14.1 1 Opinions are divided on the issue of single-sex schools and there are sound arguments on both sides of the case.
 2 I believe that the government will win another term in office but my girlfriend takes a different view. [or ... has a different opinion.]

English Collocations in Use

Advanced

Collocations are word combinations that frequently appear together. This book will help you master collocations, which will make your English sound more natural and fluent.

- Learn useful collocations from a wide range of topics relevant to modern life such as: opening gambit, work up an appetite and star-studded cast
- Avoid common mistakes and improve your exam results by studying error warnings – based on real student errors from Cambridge ESOL papers for CAE, CPE and IELTS
- Develop better learning strategies through study tips and follow-up activities

English Collocations in Use Advanced

- 60 easy-to-use two-page units: collocations are presented and explained on left-hand pages with a range of practice exercises on right-hand pages.
- Presents and explains approximately 1,500 collocations in typical contexts using short texts, dialogues, tables and charts.
- Contains a comprehensive answer key and full index for easy reference.
- Highlights register to help students choose the appropriate language for particular situations.
- Informed by the Cambridge International Corpus to ensure that the most frequently used collocations are presented.

CAMBRIDGE INTERNATIONAL CORPUS

The Cambridge International Corpus (CIC) is a collection of over 1 billion words of real spoken and written English. The texts are stored in a database that can be searched to see how English is used. The CIC also includes the Cambridge Learner Corpus, a unique collection of over 90,000 exam papers from Cambridge ESOL. It shows real mistakes students make and highlights the parts of English which cause problems for students.
